I RISE TO REMARK

BY JOHN PHILLIPS

If all goes well, Mrs. Phillips and I will be on a Victory ship, coming up the Pacific Coast, while you read this. We had the same idea after the regular session, but the President had other plans! If the ship had gotten under way, we'd at least have had the trip to the canal, but you know how freighters are; the cargo is more important than the passengers. Even this trip is still slightly uncertain. The ship was to sail from Jersey City at midnight Friday, and this morning we were told it would be noon Saturday, the 14th. Just so it gets its anchor up before Mr. Truman has any more ideas.

My friends insist on calling these boats "tramp steamers." They are actually regular freighters, with scheduled sailings, but with more leeway on dates and plans than a passenger boat could have. We went on one from Los Angeles to France in 1937 that carried 12 passengers regularly, and that trip 14. I had the fourth officer's cabin, there being no fourth officer, and there was an extra child in one cabin. Of the 14, five were in the Phillip's party. Another year, 1935, three of us took the same trip, four weeks on a little French boat, which carried about 40 people. The boat we were booked for in July, this year, would have carried twelve, but the one we take Saturday will only have four. In addition to Mrs. Phillips and myself the only other passengers are Miss Emily Knight, who teaches in San Bernardino, returning from NEA tour, New England and Canada, and Mrs. Lorraine Natoli, of San Francisco, who is finishing the last lap of a world tour. Aside from the popularity of this method of travel, (not to mention its economy) and the fact that it provides a genuine rest, at sea level, I suppose it keeps the ship's officers from cutting each others throats on long and otherwise tiresome trips. The trip from coast to coast takes about 14 days.

Here are a few space fillers; You haven't heard so much about Victory gardens. The trouble is that building programs are ruining the gardens. The land is growing apartment houses and homes instead of radishes. I think that is good.——The currency in circulation today amounts to $27,902,858,968. Have you your share? Even that is good; it is less than the high point of last December, when it went over 28.8 billions.——

The Americans in the occupied areas of Europe, principally Germany, will eat a million pounds of turkey on Thanksgiving Day. Where will it come from? The Argentine! That reminds me of the time I came back from abroad and the ship carried a big cargo of barbed wire fence. Turkeys and barbed wire, strictly American commodities. The next thing you know, we'll import apple pies and Boston baked beans—The Russians are paying from 5 to 40 times what we pay here for groceries. I'd have to translate that into earning power to tell exactly what it means, but maybe that's why the Russian-loving comrades in the U.S. prefer to do their loving from the less costly and freer shores of this nation.—The British papers are asking why the Ministry of Food has not fired about 2000 bureaucrats who had charge of bread and flour rationing, now that the rationing is ended. Sounds like Washington, doesn't it? Don't laugh at the British, though, there is still a big office for UNRRA on the corner of Connecticut and L streets, in Washington, although UNRRA has been out of existence for about 18 months.

I rise to remark that the election you are really working towards, and which will decide the future political and economic completion of the United States is 1952. The election, this coming November, important as it is, is only an incident. Keep that in mind, and keep working. When you get to this point in this weekly letter, I shall be almost in sight of Los Angeles harbor.

Sports

Although the Cypress girls' softball team has been inactive this past week, the boys are in there "pitching" and winning. Ernie's Drive-In boys' team last Monday evening on the home schoolgrounds defeated Pioneer Millers, Artesia, with a 16-9 score. So far this season the local team has 11 wins and five games lost, with the season over half completed.

Batting averages for the players so far this season are listed, with the note that Antone and Oscar Kaufman are now absent on a trip to Europe: Dick Gulman, .628; Eddy Arbiso, .500; Johnny Borges, .500; Antone Kaufman, .500; Norman Duncan, .375; Jimmy Wright, .374; Franky Ferrera, .363; Walter Boeckler, .317; Jimmy Vinzor, .309; Oscar Kaufman, .294; Leo Ronconi, .250; Earl Holoday, .125 and Peter Preci, .100.

Joint Meeting C of C and VFW Successful

One of the nicest and best planned social evenings for Cypress recently was the combined meeting of members and friends of two prominent local organizations, the Cypress Chamber of Commerce and the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Highlighting the evening's entertainment was an educational film shown in the school auditorium which is made available by the telephone company for the use of clubs and schools, called "Rehearsal."

For those who listen regularly to the popular program on the air known as "The telephone hour," it was especially revealing. Musical director for this broadcast is the distinguished American conductor, Donald Voorhees. Typically American in background, he has been trained and schooled in American methods, and is of American Revolutionary stock. His beginning was as humble and ordinary as that of any one of the children in any one of our country's schoolroom classes, except that his ability was recognized early and he rose to unusual heights in his profession.

Besides being able to hear and see, via the silver screen, the actions of the symphony orchestra, the two stars of the show were also given solo spots, opera singers Blanche Thebom and Ezio Pinza. The latter is a bass singer of unusual talents, about whom much has been written and said, who is so well known as to have been ranked among the ten best dressed men in the world, and among the 14 most glamorous men in the world. It is also said that he is a born comedian, any or all of which-named qualities are not usually identified with opera singers.

Prior to the film, the assembled guests listened while county planning commissioner Diggs explained the large land use map of Cypress which was on display. The drawing has been on display officially at public hearings and unofficially for interested persons to view. Results of further public hearings and a hearing before the county board of supervisors at an unannounced date by the county planning commission will be reported as they occur. The audience was invited to ask questions following the reading from a written report, which was designed to explain the four divisions of the map as represented by different colors on the drawing — the districts zoned for business, light industry, residential and agricultural.

A social hour was enjoyed in the school cafeteria while the committee served coffee and donuts to the assembled guests, and which gave newcomers to Cypress an opportunity to meet members and friends of both organizations who have been established here a greater length of time. The committee, which was officially appointed by the Chamber of Commerce organization, was Mrs. Milam Williams, Mrs. W. R. Dye and Beth Kroesen. C. W. Biggs, Commander of the Cypress VFW post, was responsible for making all the arrangements for the food served.

THIS AND THAT

Because a picnic is as American as the hot dog, the city of Ontario has built its annual festival around the All-States Picnic.

During the war years, the picnic drew from 50,000 to 75,000 in 1941. Announcement by Ontario officials of its renewal this year on August 28 has drawn such response that the host city is preparing to greet 100,000 picknickers from every state, Mexico, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

To seat them, Ontario has a two mile picnic table along picturesque, pepper tree lined Euclid-avenue, and to slake their thirst, ice cold orange juice and lemonade from twenty tons of oranges and lemons and the brew from 600 pounds of coffee. All that is needed at this picnic is a yen for a good time, a picnic lunch, and allegiance to the colors of some state.

"HI, PARDNER," Joan Zehner, hostess for "California's Golden Beginning" premiere, first official Centennials film, gets into costume and spirit of '48 gold miner. Joan and 24 other members of California State Employees' Association will wear miners' garb when they usher at Southern California preview of picture Friday night, August 27, Hollywood High School.

Immediately following the premiere, prints of the film will be available for non-commercial showings, service clubs, historical societies and other similar organizations. The color picture was produced on a non-profit basis by the film industry, in cooperation with the Centennials Commission and the State Department of Education.

"Don't rely on the other guy," is the safety cry being heard throughout California this month as thousands of members of the State Junior Chamber of Commerce join with the California Highway Patrol and local safety groups in stressing the "Operation Safety" theme for August.

Each month a separate statewide organization will take part in "Operation Safety" and stress a definite theme. Fifty-seven locals of the Junior Chamber are enlisted in the August program.

The Junior Chamber's safety committee offered the following suggestions for mootrists who wish to drive safely and live longer:

Courtesy is merely applying the "Golden Rule" to your driving.

Defensive driving is looking ahead and avoiding danger before you get to it.

Dim your lights for the other driver at night.

You don't have to apologize for being courteous.

Courtesy has saved many lives, it may save yours.

In recognition of its immense importance to this area, the dairy industry will be featured at the return of Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona, with a notable exhibit of dairy products. As an innovation this year, Thursday, September 23, has been set aside as dairy day and the event will be punctuated with special events that promise to make it one of the distinctive highlights of the big exposition.

On dairy day it is planned to have a public presentation of plaques to the winners of the novel contest recently conducted by the Roadside Improvement Association among the dairymen of this section. They were scored on the general appearance of their dairies.

Also scheduled for dairy day is the popular and highly publicised dairy maid's milking contest for unmarried girls from 14 to 20 years. Substantial cash prizes are awarded to the winners. Application blanks will be mailed upon request to the fair office and should be returned as soon as convenient. In the course of the fair it is expected that a million people will view the exhibits. In addition to the products display there will be a magnificent showing of dairy cattle in the livestock division.

Veterans who incurred tropical or certain other chronic diseases during their wartime service but who have not been able hitherto to qualify for Government treatment and disability rights have been given some good news by Ben Liebermann, County Service Officer.

A one-year "presumption period" has been set up by a new Federal law, in connection with malaria, dysentery, peptic ulcer and several other maladies. What this means is that if the symptoms were late in appearing, or if the veteran has failed to show up to now that the onset of the disease actually began during his service period, he can now obtain full Federal benefits if the ailment appeared within one year of the end of his wartime service. In other words, he is given the benefit of the doubt in such a case.

Veterans in Orange County who believe that the new law, Public Law 748, may apply to thew are invited to call at Orange County Veterans Service Center between the hours of 10:00-12:00 and 1:00 to 5:00 (or Phone KI2-3516) and get full information.

MONEY TO HELP FIGHT CANCER MAY WIN HOME

Located on the corner of Spaulding avenue and Wilshire boulevard, Los Angeles, this charming factory preassembled structural system house, with flexible room space, is on display as a contribution center for the society. There is twenty-five cent admission fee to help swell the funds for the society's building program to erect the first unit of Memorial Cancer Research Center on their property at Third street and Loma drive.

IT'S BEING SAID -- IN CYPRESS

That we stopped to talk with Hugh LaRue the other morning as he was caring for the plants in his front yard, and we learned an amazing bit of information concerning the care of roses. While we, in no sense of the word, possess what is known as a "green thumb," we are always the first to admire the results of other's gardening. And he divulged the interesting bit of information that there is nothing that will help the growth of a rose more than to plant around its roots pieces of dead fish. As we ponder over this knowledge we like to philosophize mentally on all the angles this brings to mind. First, one has the pleasure of the act of fishing itself; this leads to the healthy pursuit of laboring in the out of doors to bury the fish and nourish the roses; and finally there is the joy of beholding a beautiful bloom for your pains, besides being able to reflect in years to come over the happy memories of pleasant hours.

That Lee's Cypress cafe was "air conditioned" for the space of a few hours one day last week until a new pane of glass could replace one that was broken out in the front window.

That we are grateful to Forrest Lowrey for helping us out in a pinch lately and acting as "receptionist" in our office while we find it necessary to be absent in the pursuit of small pleasures or on business. "Frosty" is ordinarily a pressman in the plant of the West Orange County Publishing company in Buena Park, but has been forced to take a sick leave from his arduous tasks. He knows the answers as well or better than we do when patrons drop in and we think it's a nice change for everyone.

That "Sandy" Jr., over at Sandy's Service, has a new angle on taking vacations. He snatches a few hours on unannounced afternoons and goes fishing. This is getting to be a habit which we hope won't be too hard for him to break when he has used up his "vacation time." Accompanying him on some of these little jaunts is "Barney" Barnhart.

That we understand Evan Pugh was telling "Scotty" MacPherson confidentially the other day that the post office is giving him a headache. So he thinks he will take to riding bulls at the rodeo. It seems that this sudden decision toward the unusual comes as a result of a visit to the rodeo in the Los Angeles coliseum, which the family attended last Sunday.

That it was worth attending the party at the school house Monday evening just to meet Mrs. Kreissler, who up until then had been just a voice on the telephone. But while she did the honors for the family, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Tom DuMeris, we missed H. J. "Happy" Kreissler, her husband.

That while we're on the subject of the school house and Monday evening, we must confess that we enjoyed the unofficial tour of the not yet fully completed improvements of the class rooms which was arranged for the "press." What a far cry it is from the dimly lighted, dark-walled, drab school rooms of the not so long ago to the scientifically lighted, soundproofed rooms, tinted to suit practical purposes, but which would keep up any child's morale on a dark and dreary day. Even the desks and school supplies arrangements are different. An another time we are looking forward to seeing the new addition to the school in all its glory. Oh, to be in kindergarten again!

That we believe very strongly that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, so we beg right now that you be lenient with your criticisms if we left out any names this week when you witnessed our writing them down "on a little slip of paper," or if we say to come to a social on one night when you know all the time we meant another, or if for any other reason you find a repertorial error. We've been doing a little extra-curricular work hoping to benefit White Gold Day (the date is September 18) and we won't be ourselves again until Thanksgiving at least. To further complicate matters, the yellow demon got dried out, too, only it was wise enough to break down entirely and recuperate in an automobile hospital. Exercise? We know all about it, and that walking is good for one.

Buena Park To Have Attorney

David Aaron of Los Angeles announced his intention of opening an office for the practice of law in Buena Park after leasing the building at 6259 Grand Ave., next to Grove Hardware. Minor alterations in the property and installation of furniture and office equipment will be completed this week and Aaron anticipates that he will be ready for business the first of September.

A varied experience in law practice and legal service during the war provide him with an excellent background for the general practice he will undertake here.

Families And Members of Club Picnic

Members of the Junior Women's club, their husbands and families enjoyed a Spanish dinner last Saturday evening, in Anaheim City park. The children made use of the playground equipment while their elders sat by and visited.

In attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Dubert Laird and sons, Kennon and Eldon, Mrs. N. L. Chapman and daughter, Jayne, Bernice Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. John Lukens and children, Robert and Suzanne, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Miser and children, Shirley and Ralph, Mr. and Mrs. James Palmer and children, Barbara and Jimmy, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Beason and children, Susie and Jimmy, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Pugh, Mr. and Mrs. James Booher, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ferguson and daughter, Jeanette. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Napier.

Leave It To The Ladies:

To want the unusual, and sometimes the almost impossible. This time, from the women's community club, comes the rumor that they are looking for a fortune teller! Not having a member qualified to even search the crystal ball enough to locate a gypsy who is capable, advertising for their need seemed the next recourse.

So, if you know, or are, a gypsy or a reasonable facsimile, and would help "tell all" at the carnival on White Gold Days, September 18, the club members would appreciate it if you would step right up and volunteer. Or at least hint a little bit to Mrs. Frank Noe, the president, where you could be approached and asked to tell fortunes on the big day.

County Police Are Quick To Answer Call

The home of Mrs. "Pat" Steunenberg was broken into during the early hours of the morning Monday, and an attempt made on her life, as she slept. Because her husband works nights in Wilmington for General Petroleum, and she had been made uneasy recently by hearing unusual noises about the house, she had taken the precaution of having a gun within easy reach.

Her first realization that she had been struck a heavy blow on the head was when she awakened to find that the gun was not there, and saw the trousered legs of a man retreating through the house. Her first thought was for her two year old son, and having clasped him to her as he slept, she sped to the next door neighbor's.

A report to the sheriff's office brought the police and ambulance within a very short time. Mrs. Steunenberg was taken to Anaheim hospital where she was under surveillance for a few hours, until it was decided that her head injury was not serious. In the meantime, an investigation by the officers showed barefoot prints around the house, and also outside the windows of a neighboring home, one of whose occupants confessed to having been awakened earlier by strange noises which she felt might be made by a prowler.

"Pat" is a native of Calcutta, India, and came to this country since the war. She is a familiar figure in the shopping district, living on Bishop street close to the stores, and is known pleasantly for her vivacity and good nature.

Popular Production At Holiday Stage Features "Claudia"

Gay and inconsequential crises in the home life of the young married Naughtons form the provocative plot for "Claudia", this week packing houses at the Tustin strawhat theatre.

In stellar roles are popular MGM star Tom Drake, who scored heavily last season as "Danny" in "Night Must Fall", Selena Royle, who was last seen in the film "Cass Timberlane" as Drake's mother, and Geraldine Brooks. pretty young Warner Brothers' star, in the title role. Rounding out the cast are the Holiday Stage favorites Oliver Cliff and Mary Finney, with Georgia Phillips and Connie and Glen Wells. Gerald Mayer directs.

Tickets are on sale during the balance of this week's run of "Claudia" for next week's production of "The golden apple", which promises to be a colorful climax to the 1948 Holiday Stage summer season.

"The golden apple" was the recent national winner in the ASCAP contest for the best collegiate musical and boasts 17 musical numbers, a cast of 40—including Oliver Cliff and Mary Finney—and three singing and dancing choruses.

Queens Vie for Crown in White Gold Contest

Cypress will be surrounded by potential queens from now until White Gold Day, September 18, when the official ruler will be crowned and reign supreme throughout the remainder of the celebration. It was announced by chairman W. R. Dye, at the open meeting of committees held Wednesday evening in the schoolhouse, that eleven girls signified their intentions to vie for the honor, and showed their willingness to work hard to sell tickets in the interests of raising money to promote the fiesta Saturday, in the interests of adding to the fund to build a park for the youth of the community. The title of queen will be determined by the number of points received by the winner, based on each dollar's worth of tickets sold. The girls who registered before the close of the contest Wednesday afternoon are Pat Sadler, Carol Dewell, Delores Cardin, Phyns Raley, Marian Hammond, Louise Lowery, Marie DeGennaro, Nancy Allen, Elaine Miranda, Peggy Flynn, and Shirlee Boudreau. The committee feels that this fine show of spirit and cooperation is commendable in the girls toward such a worthy cause.

From September first through the celebration day, Andy Castrow, judge and janitor, will have his eagle eye cast toward the unsuspecting citizen who forgets to wear the official badge which is being provided for the nominal charge of 25c, or who fails to appear in the regulation work-a-day costume—white shirt and blue jeans (for the men), and a gingham or plaid dress (for the women.) You have only to ask a local merchant where you can purchase the badge of White Gold Day, and he can either sell you one or direct you to a proper source. The button can be worn starting today, since it is good advertising and will help promote interest in the date, September 18.

Artist Joe Marks, who was very active in the Artesia Lion's club's recent celebration, was present at the meeting to give helpful hints and suggestions to save errors and duplication of effort when committees here go into action as the actual day approaches. Marks announced that bumper banners will soon be ready, which are made from the latest development in material and paints, and are a vast improvement over the old, unwieldy type of bumper advertising. Chairman Hathcock stated that a limited number of these were purchased and they will be given to the most-used cars and trucks in town, which cover the most territory in their operation.

Many interesting little sidelights are being investigated and developed for fun and entertainment when the day arrives. All committee chairman are hard at work developing ideas and making plans more complete. For instance, one interesting side show will be the opportunity to view a magnificent animal, which, by the time the day arrives, will weigh close to 2400 pounds—and that's a lot of bull for anybody's money! Not forgetting the theme of the celebration, "white gold", which means milk, there will be other displays built around the lowly cow and her product.

Cypress Post Members Get Their New Caps

Members of Cypress Post No. 9847, Veterans of Foreign Wars organization, should bear in mind the picnic to be held under the auspices of the V.F.W. county council. Because there will be a prize given to the post having the greatest number present, on a percentage basis, local officers are urging that an effort be made by the members to capture this honor. Free hamburgers and pop will be served, but picnickers are urged to bring well-filled baskets of food to sustain them through a busy day.

The men in the organization were this week pleased to be the recipients of newly acquired regulation caps, designated by the national headquarters. They are olive drab in color, and decorated with the name "Cypress" and the post number.

Women in the community who are eligible to join the auxiliary which is being formed, are urged to present themselves for membership. It is hoped to have an equally active chapter for the auxiliary such as the men enjoy in their local organization.

With the dance given recently at the Cypress airpark hangar in conjunction with the firemen and the joint meeting with the chamber of commerce out of the way, the veteran members are looking ahead to plans for participation in White Gold Day on September 18, in which they will undertake several big projects including a float in the parade, and the operation of a hot dog and hamburger stand.

County Chamber's Dinner Meeting

Harold W. Kennedy, Los Angeles counsellor, will speak on the subject "air pollution control" at the next monthly membership meeting of the Associated Chamber of Commerce of Orange county to be held Tuesday evening, August 31, at Sam's Sea Food Spa on the Coast highway at Sunset Beach. He will outline the provisions of the act which he drafted for Los Angeles county and will make reference to the principles of law control and abatement for such a nuisance. He will also discuss the difficulties and progress of air pollution control in his county.

Members and friends are invited to pre present at this dinner meeting which will begin with a reception at 6:30 o'clock, followed by dinner at seven. George Raymer, of Santa Ana, will present plans for the 'good will tour' to Mexico City from November 27 to December 15, 1948 and there will be reports from some of the organization's special committees. Reservations will be received up to ten o'clock on Tuesday morning, August 31.

Harper Sells Stanton Feed Store To Hurst

Announcement was made of the sale this week of the Stanton Feed Store, located on Main street in Stanton, to Alvin Hurst of Midway City. Connected with the Buena Park Feed Store for the past two years, Hurst brings a degree from UCLA as well as plenty of practical experience into the business.

W. E. Harper of Stanton, who sold the business, plans to return to interests in Kansas. Hurst anticipates making no drastic changes in operation or policy of the store.

MOVIES Tonight!

Why not surprise yourself to night and just walk up to the school auditorium, sit down (after paying the price of admission) and enjoy yourself? You know the show will be a good one because it's for children, in the interests of children, and the money you pay will swell the fund to provide a recreation park for the community. These movies are sponsored each Friday evening by the merchants, and they would appreciate your support.

COMMUNITY CONSULATES

If it is true that the key to world peace is world understanding, four communities in New York State have started a movement that offers a fresh approach to successful forging of that key.

The towns of Jamestown, Ithaca, Glen Falls and Schenectady have established consulates in various towns in Europe. The consuls? They're all young people in their early twenties!

By cake sales, card parties and other means, the towns collected consulate funds to send young "goodwill ambassadors" to live with European families for periods of a few months. Though not instituted by the State Department, the community consul plan bears its approval, and information on the plan's details can be obtained from the Department's Division of International Exchange of Persons in Washington, D. C.

The consuls, it is reported, are having fun. They're also sending weekly reports back to the homefolk of life in Sweden, Holland, England and the other countries they are visiting. More important, by their very presence, they are "selling" the real America to people whose impressions of us are gleaned mainly from the never-never land of the cinema and the pages of the usually not-so-free European press.

If as the movement spreads, American communities from coast to coast set up their own consulates all over the world, world understanding can hardly fail to prosper.

RETURN TO THE FLYSWATTER

When DDT first appeared in the fly world, it undoubtedly created as much consternation as did the thunderous entrance of the atom bomb in ours—but apparently an antidote has been worked out.

A few years ago, any normal fly would curl up and die at the very thought of a shot of DDT. But today, agriculturalists report the average fly can absorb the stuff in unlimited amounts and hardly get a buzz on.

Like man, the lowly fly evidently devises new defenses against new weapons, if given time. And though it means a return to the flyswatter. The human race nevertheless can take encouragement from the fly's success in whipping the DDT menace. Perhaps people too will be successful in combatting the horrendous destruction of the atom bomb, if necessity should arise.

The friends of Ch Bosn Jesse E. Smith, U.S.N. of Vonnie Lane are saddened to hear that he has been recently hospitalized at Bremerton Naval hospital with a severe bronchial disturbance for an indefinite period of time. To you "old timers" Bos'n Smith is a mere recruit" with only 19 years of service with the navy. Get well quick Jesse and cheer us up by coming home real soon.

Aside to those interested; Bos'n Smith's hospital address is Bremerton Naval Hospital, Bremerton, Washington, and a cheery getwell card does much in helping to keep up the morale and contentment so needed for a speedier recovery of one who is ill and many miles away from home, friends and family.

M/Sgt. R. L. Riddle, U.S.A., has recently been transferred and is enroute to southern Germany for a tour of duty. Mrs. Riddle, and small son, John are remaining in Cypress for the next few months and are planning on joining Sgt. Riddle some time in the early part of the winter.

Mrs. Mary Ellen St. Clair entertained several ladies at her home on Tuesday evening with a social get-to-gether. The ladies thoroughly enjoyed themselves with various amusements and refresnments. Those present were Mrs. L. Hendershot, Mrs. M. Jennings, Mrs. C. Abels, Mrs. G. Underwood and Mrs. J. Smith, all of Cypress.

We are very distressed to hear that three of our very small youngsters have been the unfortunate victims of dog bites, by dogs that are permitted to run loose and unattended in this vicinity of Cypress during the past week. The names of all three youngsters is unobtainable, but one of the victims was tiny Steven Abels just two years of age, who was bitten on the arm by an unidentified dog while playing in his own yard. He was immediately treated for dog bite by the Dr. R. P. Desmond and is now recovering very nicely. We do hope that this is the first and last of such unfortunate occurances.

Mrs. Jesse Smith of Vonnie Lane has as her house guest little Patricia Galleger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Galleger of Long Beach.

Fred and Helen Berry and small son, David of Vonnie Lane have been looking forward to, and planning for, their vacation for the past several days. The big day finally arrived and the Berry's left early Saturday morning for Yosemite National Park for several days' stay. Have a good time "kids" and we all look forward to hearing about your grand vacation upon your return.

M/Sgt. John H. Julian who is with U.S. M. C. stationed at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, is being kept busy these days with short flights to various section of the U.S.A. He recently completed a flight to the middle-west, and is now on a flight to Oakland, and expects to return home in the next day or so.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cory entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ken Cory, and Mr. and Mrs. Rick Hornby of Costa Mesa with a social evening of cards at their home last Saturday evening.

Sgt. and Mrs. Ray Lucas were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wardwell of Santa Ana last Saturday evening and Sunday. The two couples enjoyed a very pleasant evening at the VFW Foxhole on Saturday and Sunday morning attended a breakfast given by Coastline post and auxiliary of Costa Mesa, at the V.F.W. home in Santa Ana which was followed by a V.F.W. district meeting. A most enjoyable week-end was had by all.

While here the two families went to Catalina for a couple of days and spent several days going to Ensenado, Mexico, and stopping to visit the zoo in San Diego. They, of course, took in the local terrain, went sight-seeing in Hollywood and saw the grandmother of Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Baily who is now staying in Los Angeles. It has been 12 years since they saw their grangmother. Miller is with the executive branch of the Engineering dept. of the mountain states Tel. and Telg. Company.

TRAVELOGUE

Written by W. C. Miller, former publisher of West Orange County publishing company.

Beautiful Bear Lake is about equally divided between Utah and Idaho. Highway 89 leads out of Bear Lake into a fertile valley with herds of fat cattle in the pastures. The highway proceeds due north for some distance, skirting the mountains to the east. The city of Montpelier is snuggled in a nich in the mountains and there No. 89 turns east into rugged mountains. The scenery is rugged and in some places breath taking. Highway 89 cuts through the south-east corner of Idaho and turns northward into Wyoming.

Salt River pass reaches an elevation of 7476 feet but for some reason you have the impression that it is much higher. After crossing the pass the highway passes into deep canyons and narrow valleys. Late in the afternoon we entered a public park that was nestled off the main canyon in a little dell where a rushing creek came down a side caynon. The trout were plentiful in this little creek but we did not have a fishing license and we were a long way from the California jails.

Our camp was in an aspen thicket and the tiny leaves mellowed the rushing water sounds into a potent slumber potion. Next morning as Bruce went down to the creek for a bucket of water a monster buck and his lady love looked down from their vantage place high up the mountain side. Sargum's rifle was in the car but who wishes to kill even a big buck out of season and without a permit?

We had been following a small river for some miles and suddenly came to its source. A point of hill jutted out into the little valley. There was a tunnel or cave in the very tip of this hill of some forty feet and out of this tunnel came our river. The water was so cold that you could drink but a few swallows at a time. The water appeared to come straight up out of the earth, a bubbling, boiling spring some thirty feet in diameter. It was the largest spring that any of our party had ever seen.

Highway 89 hangs on the western edge of Wyoming for many miles and finally jumps across into Idaho at the little village of Alpine. Idaho's Alpine must be a cold place in the winter for it is on the edge of a long wide valley. The houses, barns and great cellars are built to withstand extreme cold. In early July it is a beautiful flower garden in a quaint setting. At this little village we crossed the turbulent Snake river and followed along its bank eastward and then northward through great canyons where the roads just hung on the mountain side high above the roaming, mad river.

After many miles of playing tag with "Old Man River" we saw the crags of the Tetons peeking at us over the north rim of the canyon. We made a sudden turn to the north and our canyon suddenly opened up into the great Jackson Hole Basin. Then we saw the Tetons in all their glory. We saw the forest struggle upwards and die and then great naked crags rise higher and higher. Here and there were great patches of snow that moved into glaciers that sent milky white falls down through the forests. This is one of the scenic spots of America.

The Jackson Hole, once the home of hunted men, is now one of the fertile valleys of America. This year the late rains had kept harvest time late. Not an acre of the famous natural wild hay had been cut in July. The herds of cattle and horses that usually roam the great basin were out on higher ground. The little town of Jackson was teaming with life. Here the "Old West" still holds sway. Cowboys roam the streets and saddle horses are tied to the hitch racks. The town may have the appearance of the old West but the markets are complete with modern stocks. If you are up Yellowstone way, don't miss the Jackson country.

VETERAN'S GUIDE

RIGHT GUIDE

The VA advises ALL veterans with "C" numbers to memorize them. With the large enrollments in the Los Angeles area schools as well as those veterans already receiving other benefits, the VA offices are being asked and will be asked thousands of questions per day. Knowing his "C" number will save the veteran having to write extra correspondence, having to waste valuable time, and will facilitate a much more expediant service from the VA.

Here is what happens when a veteran wants information from the VA relative to his own case. The question is asked, but before an answer can be given the veteran's "C" number must be known so his case file can be located. If the veteran doesn't know his number off hand or hasn't got it in his wallet, a search of the index cards must be made until the information on the veteran's card coincides with identifying information given by the veteran. From that card his "C" number is obtained. His case folder can then be located in the files. All this is time consuming and means that the veteran must wait whether in person, by a telephone or the mail box. But, if the veteran knows his "C" number his folder can be located immediately and the VA's service to him expedited.

So, veterans, if you have been assigned a "C" number by the VA, memorize it or write it down and carry it with you, and by all means, give that number every time you have dealings with the VA.

THREE-WAY CHECK FOR NSLI

Veterans in the Los Angeles regional area are advised by the Veterans Administration to give their National Service Life Insurance policies a periodic 'three-way check" to make certain that their NSLI programs are consistent with their plans, obligations and incomes.

POINTS TO COVER

The "three-way check" should cover the following points: (1) beneficiaries, both principal and contingent; (2) manner in which proceeds are to be paid to beneficiaries; (3) amount and type of NSLI in force.

BENEFICIARIES

Many veterans fail to name new beneficiaries when they marry or when a designated beneficiary dies. Remember, an insured veteran can name any person or persons, firm, corporation or his own estate as a first beneficiary and also one or more second beneficiaries. The second beneficiary will collect the proceeds of the policy in the event the first beneficiary dies. If a veteran dies without nameing a beneficiary or if those named are not alive at the time of the veteran's death then the proceeds of the insurance go into his estate a nd are subject to taxation. Final distribution of the money may not be that which the veteran would have wanted.

PAYMENT OF PROCEEDS

Changes in family status or income often require a veteran to change the method of NSLI settlement. He may elect to have his NSLI proceeds paid in one lump sum or in equal monthly installments. The monthly installments range from 36 to a lifetime income.

TYPES OF NSLI

The type and amount of NSLI owned by a veteran should be that which fits his pocketbook and gives him the most coverage. Types available to veterans of World War II are: (1) term insurance, the kind issued in the service which offers the largest amount of protection per dollar paid but is issued only for a limited period and provides no guaranteed values upon lapse or surrender; (2) Ordinary life which is permanent insurance with fixed premium payments throughout the lifetime of the insured and which accumulates a cash value at the end of the first policy year; (3) 30-payment life which offers lifetime protection for the payment of fixed premiums for 30 years at the end of which premium payments cease but the policy continues in force with guaranteed cash values; (4) 20-payment life which is the same as 30-payment except that the payments are made over a shorter period of time; (5) 20-year endowment for which fixed premiums are paid for 20 years the end of which time the full amount of the policy is payable to the insured in a lump sum or in monthly installments; (6) endowment at age of 60 and (7) endowment at age of 65, both of which pay the full amount of the policy at the end of the endowment periods.

Vets Repay Over Half To State On Home Loans

A total of 343 California veterans took advantage during July of the state's low-interest plan to purchase farms and homes, a slight increase over the June figure, the State Department of Veterans Affairs announced today.

The state advanced $2,267,596 to 338 veterans for the purchase of homes, an average of $6,709; and $47,100 on the total cost of five farms, an average of $9,420. In addition, $34,370 was advanced to 84 veterans for repairs and remodeling.

The current interest rate paid by eligible veterans buying homes or farms under the state plan is 3 per cent.

A total of 29,086 veterans of World Wars I and II have participated in the plan since it went into operation in 1922, representing an aggregate state outlay of more than $146,000,000, over half of which has been repaid.

GARDEN HINTS

(A service of the Orange County Nurserymen's Ass'n.

Fuchsias can be made to bloom throughout the year in Southern California. This news may shock orthodox gardeners who complain bitterly about seeing their plants bare in December and January. In most instances a faulty pruning program can be held responsible for the lack of winter blooms. It's timely cutting that will keep your garden in flower from spring to winter every year.

It is unfortunate that so many gardeners plan a special day for whacking down their fuchsias. It would be far better to stretch the pruning program over several months; start early in August and cut back a few plants each month, continuing the process as late as March. This plan should guarantee fuchsias throughout the year.

While fuchsias generally are fairly well known, only certain types have gained real prominence. The most spectacular varieties are comparatively unknown. For example, some fuchsias easily will grow to a height of more than 20 feet, yet the average home gardener thinks of the fuchsia as a somewhat lowly plant.

Some fuchsias gain the proportions of a tree. Such a variety is California, perhaps the best tree type for this locality.

There is a great deal of versatility among the fuchsias. Some are real dwarfs, going to only about one foot. Others are giants of the upper air and may attain a height of more than 40 feet. Although fuchsias are very much at home in the Southland they are natives of New Zealand, Mexico and South America. In these countries tree fuchsias are as common as the shrub.

Although the fuchsia historically has been classified as a shade lover some of the newer introductions do tolerate the sun. Close-to-the-coast varieties such as Avalon, Barrington and Mazda do not suffer greatly from an open exposure. Generally speaking, the single varieties of fuchsia seem to tolerate a warmer situation while the doubles must be in the shade. However, even the singles are not sun lovers and this is especially true in the warmer inland valleys.

The average fuchsia is happiest when placed in a cool and fairly damp environment. Watch your watering carefully. The soil must be kept moist throughout the summer period and at no time should the plants lack for water. The north side of a building suits them well although a few hours of filtered sunlight during the day should cause no great damage. The plants also react favorably to an overhead sprinkling at regular intervals. Try giving them this shower early in the morning.

Almost every garden has room for one or more hanging basket and here is another admirable spot for the fuchsia. Not all varieties do well when grown in this manner, so use only the hanging basket types.

One of the showiest and newest introductions among the trailing fuchsias in Brazier. This is a rather hardy specimen and the flowers are produced in great abundance. The individual florets are semi-double; the petals being carmine, contrasting delicately with sepals just slightly lighter in tone. This variety should prove an excellent choice for your patio.

Fuchsias prefer a soil that has been fortified with plenty of humus. Well-rotted manure, leaf mold and certain types of peat will produce excellent plants. A mulch of the same type of material is useful to keep the soil damp. Fuchsias are not heavy feeders.

Robinson, mother of Maurice Robinson of this community, passed away in a sanitarium in Claremont last week with the last rites taking place last Saturday in the Claremont Congregational church. Rev. Harlan Hague, professor of religion at Scripps College, officiated. The body was shipped to Fallbrook for burial in the family plot in the Fallbrook cemetery.

Mrs. Robinson made many friends in Los Alamitos while she was here with her son, and daughter-in-law. Other survivors are two daughters, Miss Katherine Robinson of Monrovia and Miss Alta Robinson of El Monte; and two grandchildren, Joan and Fred Robinson of Los Alamitos.

Deviating from the usual meetings in the homes of various members of the Good Neighbors Club met one day last week for a pot luck picnic in Anaheim City park. Naval Air Needs Pilots And Aviation Cadets

Due to the expanded naval aviation program, many pilots have been leaving their Organized Reserve billets at the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station for voluntary duty with the operating forces of the Fleet. This situation has made available opportunities for former naval pilots to join the Organized Reserve in fighter, bomber, or patrol-plane squadrons on a part-time basis and receive two full days' pay for training on alternate week ends. Many pilots who made application in the past to join the Organized squadrons at Los Alamitos are urged to re-apply in view of the vacancies now existing.

The aviation cadet program of the Navy has also been expanded, and First Lieutenant Richard Newport, USMC, has been sent from the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, to procure aviation cadets from this area for the new flight training program. Lieutenant Newport will visit colleges throughout Southern California, Arizona, and New Mexico to explain the requirements and answer questions regarding necessary qualifications. In general, it is required that applicants be native born or naturalized citizens between the ages of 18 and 25, unmarried, and with at least two full academic years of college, university, or junior college completed. If successful in passing aptitude and physical examinations, candidates will be ordered to pre-flight ground training, then to basic flight training of about 180 hours. This is followed by 4 months of advanced training and active duty with the Fleet operating forces. Successful candidates receive $75 monthly, lodging, board, and uniforms. In addition, the premiums on $10,000 worth of government life insurance will be paid by the Navy during the period of flight training. Successful completion of the course results in a commission as ensign or second lieutenant, USMC, whose minimum pay and allowances amount to $290 per month.

Mr. and Mrs. Conna Pollock spent Sunday in Huntington Park where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sweet.

Charles Moolick, who has been visiting his family for the past three weeks, is leaving soon for Betteravia where he is employed in the sugar factory.

Warren Ponsars Honored At Mixed Shower Party

A very enjoyable party took place last Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cook entertained at a "pink and blue" shower for Mr. and Mrs. Warren Ponsar, at the Cook home on Starr street. A lovely arrangement of delphinium, white rose buds and tuberoses graced the table on which were arranged the many tissue wrapped packages. Beside the flowers was placed a cunning nosegay which was later presented to Mrs. Ponsar.

Guests took part in several hilarious games including a battle of the sexes, "pick a stick and do a trick" and bingo, with Robert Ponsar winning the prize in the latter game. Many very lovely gifts were received by Mrs. Ponsar to add to her baby layette.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the refreshment course which concluded the evening. Guests were all close neighbors of the honored couple and were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ponsar, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Isball, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Choice, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Merkeley, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morris and the host couple.

Marines Take Brides In Double Wedding

Coming as a surprise to their many friends is the news of a double wedding of Miss Ruby Adkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Adkinson to Walter Teagarden and Miss Eva Corrigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haase of Anaheim to Jimmy Shumaker. Both of the bridegrooms are Marines stationed at El Toro.

The two couples drove to Yuma, Arizona, where the ceremony took place at the Gretna Green Wedding chapel on Saturday, August 21, with the Reverend A. M. Blackmore officiating.

For her wedding, Mrs. Teagarden chose a turquoise suit with black accessories while Mrs. Corrigan wore a royal blue suit with accessories of black. A brief honeymoon was spent in Redlands before returning home to announce the news. Both couples plan to establish their residence in Redlands.

The former Miss Adkinson is a graduate of Anaheim high school, class of 1948 while her husband, the son of Mrs. N. L. Lathrom of Buell, Idaho, received his education in that city. He has been in the Marine Corps for two years.

Mrs. Shumaker also attended Anaheim high school. Her husband attended schools in West Virginia and is expecting his discharge from the service in October.

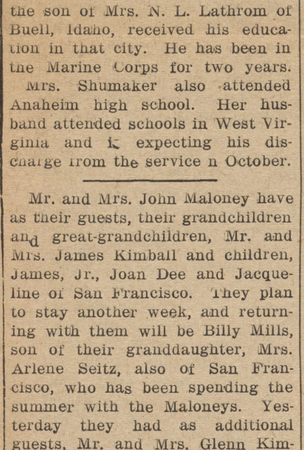
Mr. and Mrs. John Maloney have as their guests, their grandchildren and great-grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. James Kimball and children, James, Jr., Joan Dee and Jacqueline of San Francisco. They plan to stay another week, and returning with them will be Billy Mills, son of their granddaughter, Mrs. Arlene Seitz, also of San Francisco, who has been spending the summer with the Maloneys. Yesterday they had as additional guests, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kimball of San Francisco.

Mrs. Girard Baldassarre, who recently underwent major surgery at the Santa Ana Community hospital, is at home and is slowly improving.

Max Moolick has shipped out for a cruise with the Merchant Marines.

Two grandchildren of the Roy Allens are in the Orange County hospital, virtims of polio. They are June and Joyce Allen of Costa Mesa, one being 17 years old and the other 13. Two other children in the family, one of whom is an infant, are under observation, but no signs of the disease have been noticed.

Chef's Triumph



Open several cans of spaghetti and meatballs and you, too, will rate tops with the gang. Just pour the contents of the cans into a saucepan, heat and serve the crowd seconds and thirds. This popular dish saves work and money, too. It's spaghetti combined with a long-simmered sauce and pure beef meatballs blended with the master touch of an Italian chef.

Lenora Jennings Weds Santa Anan In Arizona

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jennings of Orange Avenue have announced the marriage of their daughter, Lenora, to Truman Glenn Kibler, son of T. H. Kibler of Santa Ana.

The wedding took place last Sunday in the Yuma Wedding chapel with Miss Dona Roma Jennings, a sister of the bride witnessing the ceremony. The bride chose a lace trimmed black crepe dress for the occasion.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Kibler spent the night in Yuma and the next day went across the border into Old Mexico on a sight-seeing trip. They are planning to make their home in San Francisco where Kibler is associated with his fathfather in the trucking business.

Mrs. Kibler is a graduate of Savanna elementary school and Anaheim high school while her husband was graduated from Sant" Ana high school and is a veteran of World War II, having served with the Army Air Corps in North Africa.

New Place To Dine in Stanton

Lovers of real Italian spaghetti and meat balls are delighted to know that they may be obtained right here in Stanton. Mr. and Mrs. Pete Baldassarre have opened a cafe at the corner of Court and Main streets. Several rooms of a residence owned at that location by the Baldassarres have been redecorated and converted into a double dining room. They specialize in Italian food and the spaghetti dishes in particular. They are open during the afternoon and evening hours and are assisted in serving patrons by their daughters.

The Baldassarre family is well known in this community, having lived here for several years in their home on Stanton Avenue.

Miss Jan Taylor, 10641 Flower street, who is seriously ill in the Anaheim Community hospital, is showing some improvement and hopes to be home again soon.

Mrs. Roy Allan and Mrs. Bill Amling have been called for jury duty in Santa Ana and will report on August 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Rankins have been enjoying a visit from their niece and nephew from Fort Worth. Many interesting and scenic spots have been visited during the past week.

Harold Amling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Amling, is home again after spending some time on a deep sea fishing boat. A very exciting time was experienced while out at sea when the boat came in contact with a whale.

Jack Thomas, who has been working in the Canal Zone in Central America, arrived home unexpectedly last Saturday for a visit with his family.

POPULATION IMPACT ON ORANGE COUNTY AGRICULTURE

How long Orange County can maintain its high place among the ranking argicultural counties of the United States will depend on the rate of incoming population and its tolerance of rural values to the community. An analysis of the impact of population on Orange County agriculture was presented by Farm Advisor, Harold E. Wahlberg to the assembled convention of Southern California Farm Bureaus last Saturday at Garden Grove.

More people will bring in more industries that will require more water supplies, he said. Unless Metropolitan Water District supplies are increased in the county to meet the needs of urban and industrial expansion, the underground reservoir will eventually be inadequate for crop production, he pointed out.

Protection of quality of irrigation water is another problem that must be recognized by the county. Industrial wastes, not only in this county but also in upper counties that may find their way into the Santa Ana River drainage, must be adequately controlled to prevent contamination of our underground and surface sources of our irrigation waters, said Wahlberg.

The number of small subsistance farms is rapidly increasing in the county. This is reflected in the increasing number of requests in the Farm Advisor's office for information on home orchards, gardens and small livestock.

A number of marginal citrus orchards have given way to suburban home acres. In other cases unprofitable trees are being removed and replaced with vegetable crops and irrigated pastures. Already incoming population, unmindful of farming requirements, are showing intolerance to orchard heating, orchard windbreaks, apiary locations, dairy barns and other essential farm equipment. The freeway will accelerate population influx and hasten the growng impact on agriculture.
